Two victories from Kansas City yesterday would have been a great boost to the Hoosiers, but after they had the score in the last of the ninth inning of the first game an unfortunate error by Magoon, after two were out in the first of the tenth, opened the gate, and the Cowboys rushed along with enough hits to score the winning tally, the final score resulting 4 to 3 in favor of Kansas City. But things were different in the second affair. The Hoosiers took kindly to Isbell's easy curve and lunched easily about the bases to a shut-out total a half dozen tallies, while "Bullet" Allemand showed he was in pretty fair form by holding the Cow Punks to a blank score until the ninth, when he eased up a bit and permitted them to bat in three runs. Magoon says it is the worst kind of luck to shut out an opposing team, and for that reason he became generous in the ninth and permitted Kansas City to escape a whitewashing.

The loss of the first battle was largely due to the misplays of the Hoosiers. Fisher and Gear were the opposing slubmen and honors were about even until Fisher was unfortunate in having several very costly misplays contributed by the men back of him. Magoon's error in the eighth gave Kansas City a chance to win, and he struck out twice in the latter part of the contest when men were on bases shouting for some inducement to send them around the circuit.

The second battle showed that Allemand is again on earth, and in form to do himself justice when placed on the slab. For eight innings only did he keep his record as a bright star, and the entire lot of fielders did fast work to keep his record as clean as a bright star, and the entire lot of fielders did fast work to keep his record as clean as a bright star, and the entire lot of fielders did fast work to keep his record as clean as a bright star.

After trying the score in the last of the ninth inning an unfortunate error by Magoon at short, after two men were out, gave the Blues a life and chance to win, as the next two men hit safely, and what proved to be the winning run was sent across the plate, as the Hoosiers went out in one, two, three order in their half. Fisher and Gear were the opposing slubmen. Neither received perfect support, but the errors were not too many, and proved the most costly. There were several plays, with the Blues having the greatest luck.

The Blues took the lead in the first inning and they were never headed, although the Hoosiers placed a knot in the score in the ninth. The other half of the run to the lead when they made their effort in the ninth. Hogreiver drew a full count, and the Blues were on their feet at second on an attempted sacrifice. Cromley was sent up for his second time, and he was hit by the pitcher. Fisher forced Cromley, taking third. Carr drove one toward third, and the Blues were on their feet at second on an attempted sacrifice. Cromley was sent up for his second time, and he was hit by the pitcher. Fisher forced Cromley, taking third. Carr drove one toward third, and the Blues were on their feet at second on an attempted sacrifice.

Hill started the game with a home run over the right field fence. After two men retired Nance reached first on Carr's error. Bonner's error advanced him to second and Ryan's single scored him. Ryan was caught trying to steal second. Kansas City added one in the sixth. Hill started the trouble with a double. He was received a signal to throw to second to catch Hill napping, but he failed to take the throw and Hill went to third. Bonner's sacrifice scored him.

double and advanced a peg when Magoon went out to Van Buren. McCreey singled to center and Carr romped home. Swander's second hit sent McCreey around to third and Swander to second on a throw to catch McCreey. Berry's long fly to Hill scored McCreey. The effort of the Hoosiers to find the game safe in the fifth. Carr hit for another two-bagger and scored on Magoon's safe one past second. McCreey beat out a bunt and Swander dropped a single in on which Magoon scored. Berry forced Swander. Hogreiver dropped a fly in right field. Berry labored under the impression that Montgomery would catch it, and when he failed to run he was forced at second. McCreey, however, scored on the hit. The Hoosiers took matters easily the remainder of the game.

The first three Blues to face Allemand were dropped with ease. Then Carr tried his hand, but went out on an easy chance to Ryan. Magoon met a straight one and shipped it to center for a base. He pitched the second and after McCreey surprised the fans by striking out Swander hit to center for a base, scoring Magoon.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Not a favorite won at Harlem to-day. All six events went to heavily backed outsiders and long shots. Accidents completely marred the steeplechase. Out of the six starters only two finished the course. The winner turned up in Montanica, a 6-to-1 shot, while Donami, the extreme outsider, at 40 to 1, was second. These were the only two horses in the race which averted mishap. Weather cool and threatening; track slow. Summaries:

First Race.—One mile and one hundred yards: Frangible, 102 (W. Knapp), 11 to 1, won; The Way, 105 (C. Miller), 30 to 1, second; Marshmallow, 100 (J. Booker), 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:54 2-5.
